

HJP CONSULTING.

HJP Consulting is an internationally active firm of consultants. As a company specialising in the planning, invitation to tender and testing of smart card and e-passport solutions, HJP operates successfully in the healthcare and national ID card fields. Its unique expertise lies in the development of system architectures, together with the specification and testing of smart-card operating systems and applications based on contactless chip technology. HJP Consulting is a team of experts in the areas of software specification and testing, system architecture, inlay production, security and quality management.

HJP Consulting has been appointed by the German Federal Office for Information Security (BSI) to become the co-editor of the latest ICAO Test Standards for e-passports, currently discussed in the ISO/IEC WG3 TF4. They have also been actively involved in the specification and testing work for two major European e-passport projects. HJP Consulting is based in Paderborn, Germany.
